

ART OF COACHING PODCAST™ EPISODE 172
MARK FISHER: HOW TO APPROACH CONFLICT, CHAOS & CONVERSATIONS REMOTELY

How do you approach conflict: do you avoid it or do you encourage it? What's the conflict culture like in your workplace? At home?

Mark has a different approach in that he calls his customers Ninjas and his company "Business for Unicorns". How do you think this helps and hurts him? How do you create differentiation in your market or profession?

In this episode we talk about using metrics to manage outcomes. How do you apply metrics to your business? Do you use it on a weekly basis?

When you are responsible for holding someone accountable, how do you escalate the situation if they don't follow through? Do you have a specific plan or process?

Managing and working remotely is something many (if not all) of us adopted during COVID. How did working remotely initially change your process and how does it still influence what you do?

There should be a place for emotion in the workplace. Agree or disagree?

ABOUT

Join us as we dive more deeply into what it takes to change attitudes, outcomes & behaviors across a variety of world-class environments. Our guests include a wide range of professionals ranging from coaching, law enforcement, scientists, managers, military and entrepreneurs.

While I may originally be a strength and conditioning coach by trade- my work now spans across the corporate realm, military setting and beyond. If you work with people in any capacity and are fascinated by what makes them tick, this show is for you!

Each episode is packed with tactical insights as we prioritize providing you with key take-aways, instead mass produced "surface level" advice. Expect to be challenged, expect to be surprised and expect to maybe find a few laughs along the way as well.
